6. Robert Smart, House Armed Services Committee staff, requested that he be furnished the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD citations to the floor debate on the Mansfield resolution and other pertinent data. He was furnished these citations later in the day including the citation to the Senate Report No. 1570 from the Committee on Rules and Administration which report included Mr. Hayden's minority views. Mr. Smart did not state specifically why these items were desired but I gained the impression that Mr. Kilday had asked for them.

7. Senator Eugene J. McCarthy (D., Minn.) came to the Agency for luncheon and was furnished a general briefing on the Agency. The Director utilized the over-all organization chart to discuss the Agency's functions and responsibilities. The Senator was briefed on our clandestine intelligence responsibilities. Senator McCarthy brought up the subject of a Joint Committee for Intelligence. (He is the only Senator to have introduced a measure on this subject in the 86th Congress.) He stated that he believed in congressional government although he did not wish to go as far as the parliamentary system. He cited as an example his belief that the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy had functioned very well. The Director indicated some areas of concern in the event of a Joint Committee on Intelligence.
